The DIMMER VIEW

by Max Goodwin

The Jarvis-Brown Bill

It was inevitable that the "bugs" in 13 would show up as political issues.

The Jarvis-Gann Constitutional Amendment did what it was supposed to do, plus some things it was not so designed.

But it relieved homeowners of onerous property taxes as advertised. It also aided owners of commercial and rental properties.

Many of those who opposed 13 strongly and bitterly have had a change in personality. When they finally recognized the popularity of the issue they took on the complexion of the supporters. Even the governor is now sounding like Jerry Jarvis!

Others are now supporting legislation that would take Jarvis-Gann benefits away from landlords. There may be nothing wrong with that although they are only correcting their own bumbling, after-election approach.

It was Governor Brown who set the stage for dramatic raises in rents when he told the people of the state that he would invoke a rent freeze if tax savings were not passed on to tenants.

This political ploy worked. It caused landlords, reacting to his threat and looking into the high maintenance-cost future, to defend themselves against the threatened freeze.

This observation is not necessarily to favor landlords. It is to look at the intent and the fallout of Brown's threat.

His action churned up renters' antagonism against landlords—a class which draws its own antagonism once a month and needs no outside help. But in so doing, Brown turns attention away from the fact that he had been one of the bitterest foes of Jarvis-Gann—even to the point of being untruthful about the surplus funds of the state. He said the total was $2½ billion when in fact it was $6 billion. No top official could be that far off in his fiscal knowledge of the people's money unless he has a high disrespect for their intelligence.

But the landlords became panic-stricken and did what the politicians expected them to do. When rents went up, the pots who caused the panic pointed the accusing finger at them.

But now there are bills in the hopper that would "correct" this and compel landlords to reduce rents by 80 percent of the tax savings (SB 2986). Growing renter's anger caused Senate Bill 66 to be devised. 66 would leave 13 intact but would take it off commercial and income producing properties as Prop 8 would have done if it had passed last year.

If politicians had tried to implement 13 instead of tossing some of the stuff into the fan, the anger of the populace might never have arisen.

Now having incited the electorate to anger, it was reasonable that a bill such as Senate Constitutional Amendment would be forthcoming.

Author of SCA 42 is Sen. George Deukmejian of Long Beach whose bill has turned the tables and now has the politicians panic-stricken.

SCA 42 limits state and local government from spending the total expenditures of the previous year by the percentage of change in the cost of living.

It also requires state bureaucracy which mandates a new program to reimburse local governments for implementing it.

One observer figures that had SCA been in effect for the past 10 years, city, county and state governments would have spent $62 billion less. In a 4 year overview starting this year, it would, if passed, save taxpayers $8.6 billion.

It's fine to be mad at landlords and business property owners for their panicky rent increases, but let's keep our eye on target.

It's the spenders of our sweat-induced taxes that are at the root of all this.

If SCA gets on the ballot this fall and fails to pass, you can count on the spenders eating more holes in our pockets.

PUC Staff Recommends Refusal Of Pacific Telephone Rate Hike

The staff of the California Public Utilities Commission has asked the PUC to dismiss Pacific Telephone's request for a $471 million annual rate increase.

In its motion to dismiss, the PUC staff said that Pacific's improved earnings, coupled with property tax savings under Proposition 13 and a federal income tax issue recently upheld by the California Supreme Court, "appear to assure a rate of return for PT & T materially higher than the currently authorized 8.843%."

"It is respectfully submitted that the Commission should not embark upon an expensive, time consuming general rate case which could consume as much as a year and require extensive participation by many parties," the motion reads.

The staff motion assumes a savings to the phone company of about $38 million because of the federal income tax issue and about $52 million because of Proposition 13 effects.

The staff contends that these savings, plus other improved earnings, should allow Pacific an opportunity to earn a 9.91% return on its investment, or only .79% lower than the 10.7% Pacific is requesting.

Referring to a recent PUC decision that invites regulated utilities to reduce rates to reflect Proposition 13 effects, the PUC staff said that if Pacific does not submit such a plan, the PUC should then institute a rate decrease proceeding for Pacific.

ARMS RE-ATTACHED — Jose Renteria, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Castro, of 2114 Englewood dr., Lemon Grove, rests in a Tacoma hospital after a team of surgeons re-attach his severed arms after an industrial accident.

Renteria was cleaning a spice-mixing plant July 12 at a Tacoma firm when the machine was started. The 18-inch blades, 20 of them, severed his arms 5 inches above his elbows. During the 12-hour operation, surgeons repaired arteries and numerous veins, reconnected nerve endings and muscle tissue and inserted a plate in each arm to hold the bones while they heal.

It may be 2 years before surgeons know whether Renteria will be able to use his arms, hospital officials said.

Mills To Seek Delay In Bill To Kill CPO

State Senate President Pro Tem James R. Mills, D-San Diego County, has announced that he will ask that Senate Bill 1746, which would abolish the Comprehensive Planning Organization of San Diego County, be sent to interim study by the legislature.

Mills said his purpose in not pursuing the legislation any further during the current legislative session was to give local municipalities in San Diego County more time to study the measure and assist in working out the best possible approach.

"The reasons for which this legislation was introduced, to eliminate costly and unnecessary government agencies, are still valid and have been underscored by the voters' approving Proposition 13," Mills said.

"But local government officials told me they need more opportunity to assess the local government impact of Senate Bill 1746 so I have agreed to put the matter under study until the next session of the legislature."

"I am confident that if the voters of San Diego County are correctly informed about the governmental duplication that exists with the continued existence of CPO they will communicate their feelings about CPO's future to local officials."

Auto Mishap Kills SV Youth in Minn.

A Spring Valley youngster has died in an auto-truck collision in Wheaton, Minn., on July 29, it was learned this week.

Dead is Brian K. Lueker, 13, of 2139 Lang ave., who was visiting his grandparents there after being graduated from the 7th grade at the S.V. Junior High School. Services were held for him at Wheaton on August 8.

He is survived by his father, the Rev. Irwin L. Lueker, pastor of the Messiah Lutheran Church in San Diego; his mother, and a brother, all of Spring Valley.

The family has lived here 6 years.

Re-appraised Value Notices Said to be Easier-to-Read

Mailing of over 535,000 "Notices of Appraised Value" which will reflect the change brought about by Proposition 13 began this week, according to County Assessor Chuck Williams. "Property owners will notice some distinct changes in the format of this notice from prior years."

"The only value shown on the card will be the amount determined by my appraisal staff using Proposition 13 guidelines in accordance with current legal interpretations of 13 and the several legislative 'clean-up' bills."

"Another feature is an explanation enabling each person to roughly compute what his tax will be."

"The Jarvis-Gann 1% tax limit on market value," Williams said, "means you can move the decimal point two points to the left in the property value figures after deducting the Homeowners' Exemption. The resulting figure will be very close to what the tax bill will be. Actual tax bills may vary in certain areas because of some special assessments."

The notification asks each property owner to examine the value determined and if

Seniors' Food Co-op Wins 90-Day Tryout

Funding to provide senior citizens with low-cost food as a continuation of a cooperative operation called Project SCOOP has been approved by the County Board of Supervisors.

The Board awarded a $23,901 contract to Seniors Marketing, Inc. by a vote of 4-0 for a 90-day period to offer food to seniors at a markup not to exceed five per cent. The program will operate at 30 sites throughout the County.

The Board directed County staff to evaluate the possibility of further County funding as the contractor pursues other funding sources to continue the program beyond the three month period.

$13,000 Windfall For Lemon Grove From Traffic Fines-Forfeiture Bill

Lemon Grove City will get an increase of $13,000 in state funds from traffic fines and forfeitures as a result of a AB 2781 — an Assembly Bill authored by Assemblyman Pete Chacon and carried through the State Senate by Senator Jim Mills.

According to Derek Casady of Mills's Sacramento office, it changes the percentage refunded by the state from fines and forfeitures collected within the city limits.

Until AB 2781 passes (it was approved by the Senate 34-0 on Friday, Lemon Grove kept 70 percent of the traffic fine income. The Chacon-Mills effort changed the percentage to 92 percent.

City Manager Jack Shelver

said it would provide approximately $13,000 more for the city's treasury.

Some of the other cities enjoyed a rate change. The City of San Diego pays only 6 percent to the county.

Arsonists Sought

Fire Causes $10,000 Damage Inside LG Masonic Temple

A fire, started by one or several arsonists in the early hours Wednesday of last week, caused approximately $10,000 worth of damage to the Masonic Temple at 2590 Main st., Lemon Grove.

The fire was set amidst books and records in the secretary's office, said John Ott, assistant fire chief of the Lemon Grove Fire Department.

It is assumed that one or several individuals entered the building shortly after midnight by sliding open one of the lowered windows, Ott said.

Although all windows have bars the individual or individuals slipped between them and took a cash box from a metal box in the secretary's office. The cash box, however, was empty.

Presumably as an act of revenge or disappointment, the fire was started and smoldered for approximately 7 or 8 hours, Ott said. It caused approximately $7,000 worth of damage to the structure and $3,000 damage to the furnishings.

Fire fighters responded at 8:20 a.m. and extinguished the fire. The Sheriff's Department is investigating the arson and burglary.

The Masonic Temple has been hit by numerous burglaries in the past, Ott said, which is the reason for bars having been installed in front of the windows.

Boat Tragedy Averted By L.G. Businessman

Tragedy was narrowly averted last week on Sunday when the 24 ft. cabin cruiser owned by a Lemon Grove restaurateur began shipping water in S.D. Bay.

Vito Siragusa, who operates Leone's Restaurant on Broadway, had taken 6 youngsters, 3-13 years of age, for a ride in the bay when the mishap occurred. Three of the children—3, 10 and 13—were his.

Luckily, the Coast Guard responded to his call for help immediately when water from the broken line of the engine's cooling system began coming in faster than he could bail.

In lifting the youngsters hurriedly onto the Coast Guard vessel, Siragusa injured his back and remained home for 2 days.

He said that he had been out to sea in the cruiser earlier in the day and there was no malfunction. It was after the youngsters prevailed on him for a ride that he took them for a jaunt around the bay when the incident occurred.

"The boat was sinking. I was handing the youngsters up to the Coast Guard men so fast that I twisted my back. My thoughts were on getting the kids to safety," he said.

The Coast Guard towed Siragusa's $8,000, water-laden cruiser, Sand Tab, safely back to port for repair—with Siragusa bailing all the way.

MAN AND HIS ROCK — Actually, Herb Shaffer of Lemon Grove's Shaffer Gem Center might not take too kindly to hearing the term "rock" slapped on the 35-pound hunk of amethyst he's shown holding above, since it came from the State of Rio Grande de Sur in Brazil and would sell for $1,150. This specimen will be on display at the San Diego County Gem Federation show "Gemboree" Oct. 28 and 29, and is one of many baubles housed at the Gem Center in Lemon Grove. See story page 6.

Project GO To Aid Seniors, Handicapped

A free-of-charge transportation service is available to senior citizens and handicapped individuals in the East County area.

Project Go, under a state funded demonstration project, will operate 4 vehicles, each equipped with a lift for people in wheelchairs, with tie-downs for five wheelchairs and additional seating for four.

Heartland Creative Community Association, a multi-purpose organization staffed by volunteers, is the umbrella organization of Project Go.

Vehicles will provide transportation to day care, nutritional, medical, therapeutic, socialization, education and employment destinations. Shopping rides are planned for one day a week, said Eula Andres, director of the Heartland Assn.

Under the demonstration project, vehicles are donated by the state for a given period of time, and state funds for their operation are expected to last till the end of 1978, Andres said.

It is hoped that individual East County communities and San Diego County will eventually share the expenses for the transportation project, Andres said.

The City of La Mesa is presently exploring the possibility of earmarking some of its transportation funds for Project Go, but a final decision,

Computer Class Offered at SDSU

A short weekend course taking the mystery out of computer programming will be repeated this month at San Diego State University, because of popular demand.

First Rabies Case Is In Fallbrook

The first case of rabies this year in a bat has been confirmed by the Office of the County Veterinarian.

The bat was found dead on the back porch of a house in the Fallbrook area.

County Veterinarian Dr. H. C. Johnstone cautions people not to touch bats even if they appear to be dead. Dr. Johnstone said a bat that appears to be dead may still have enough life to bite, thereby transmitting rabies to its victim.

To avoid direct contact that bat should be pushed into a container with a stick and transported to the County Veterinarian's laboratory for examination. The Lab is at 5555 Overland ave., Bldg. 4, in the Kearny Mesa area of San Diego. Office hours are 8 a.m.-5 p.m. weekdays.

There was a possibility of contact with the bat by a cat and a dog at the home at which the bat was found. The dog had been vaccinated against rabies.

According to Dr. Johnstone, State law requires vaccinated animals to receive a booster and be observed for 30 days, usually at the owner's home. Unvaccinated animals, however, must be quarantined or destroyed.

San Diego county is rabies area and the law requires all dogs four months of age and over to be vaccinated against rabies.

Revaccinations are required every two years. However, there are no similar requirements for cats, although it is strongly recommended that cats also be vaccinated. Rabies vaccinations for cats and dogs may be obtained from any veterinarian.

Museum Expedition Explores Arizona Chiricahua Area

Participants will camp at Pico State Park on the first and last nights of the trip. Accommodations during the remainder of the trip will be at the Southwestern Research Station where board and room will be provided. Participants provide transport, gear and food for two camping nights. The charge is $160 with some rides available in a museum vehicle for an additional $80.

There's An Answer

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Bills, bills and family troubles
Q. My husband died in the ambulance as I rode with him. Since then my life has been hell. He was an alcoholic, would beat me up, steal and have affairs. All he left was $4 in his billfold. I'm just a nervous wreck. Bills, bills and family troubles. One daughter married a millionaire and the other children are fairly well off. They haven't helped me with expenses. I'm sick and hurt. I've worked hard while their father was out boozing. I do not deserve this. I need help.

A. You've had it rough, really rough. That is obvious. But the way to correct and improve your life is to stop underscoring how rough it has been and still is. You've got to move away from your self-pitying attitude. Have the strength of character to put the past in the past. If you don't the past will continue to ruin your future. Since your children do not help, get a job and help yourself. Live with a positive attitude and you'll be surprised how your life will gradually turn around.

We have a booklet that has helped others with problems such as yours. It is entitled "Help Yourself With God's Help," and a copy of it is its way to you. Anyone wishing a free copy may write to us in care of Box 500, Pawling, NY 12564.

Weekend father

Q. I am 30 years old and have two sons, 9 and 5. Their father and I are divorced and we both are remarried. Their father and his wife "play family" when the kids are with them every other weekend, making sure they are seen around town with the boys. There is no discipline and they get anything they ask for. They are beginning to think life with me and their stepfather is abusive. It seems their father is trying to persuade them that life with them is better than with me. Before the divorce he considered them nuisances. I'm so confused I don't really know what is the right road to take.

A. All you can do is to treat your two sons in the manner you think is best for them. You have no control over the way their father and his present wife handle them, and to agitate yourself over that is futile, and therefore foolish.

You do not need to be confused. Do what you think is right; do that and forget it.

15 years old and feels doomed

Q. I am only 15 years old. I am never happy — well, sometimes but never for long. I love being alone, and that scares me. I know I am not pretty, and it bugs me. I've tried to make myself look better and it does not work. I really don't understand myself. Is there something wrong with me? I've talked to God, but nothing seems to help. Does he not hear me? I just believe I'm doomed.

A. One of the healthiest things that any of us can do is simply to accept ourselves and live with ourselves on that basis.

Of course there is nothing wrong with you except your attitude. Say to yourself, "I am what I am and I like myself as I am."

Then just live your life and be happy with yourself. You are not doomed, but are a normal human being. God is with you and will help you.

If there is something you would like to ask Dr. and Mrs. Peale to discuss in this column, write to them in care of Box 500, Pawling NY 12564. If you would like to talk directly with a Prayer Partner, call Prayer Line (212) 481-1050. Reduced long-distance rates are in effect nights and weekends.

Ringeisen, Knauer Honored By Lemon Grove Kiwanis

Elmer Ringeisen and Dr. Robert Knauer, past presidents of the Lemon Grove Kiwanis Club, were designated

Elmer Ringeisen

"Distinguished Presidents" by club members in a ceremony last week.

Ringeisen, owner-operator of the Skyline Rollarena and Knauer, a local optometrist, join the late Mike Carlen among "Distinguished Presidents" so honored.

The criteria for designation as a "Distinguished President" are development of club leadership, attendance at district and international conventions, working to increase club membership, "competent stewardship" of club activities and participation in the Major Emphasis Program.

Ringeisen, 1973-74 president, joined the Kiwanis in 1968. The Major Emphasis Program during his year as president, "The Younger Years, The Greater Years," was marked by two projects of merit. The Lemon Grove Kiwanis participated in the Senior Citizens Nutrition Program and in the Haunted House Project for Campus Life; the latter raised more than $80 for youth organization projects.

Knauer, who joined Kiwanis in 1970, served as president in 1976-77 with the Major Emphasis "Safeguard Against Crime." The Lemon Grove Kiwanis developed, financed and distributed a booklet titled "Positive Action Crime Prevention," which was recognized by Kiwanis International and local law enforcement officials as an aid to crime prevention and apprehension of criminals.

During Knauer's year as president the Lemon Grove Kiwanis also helped local youth and senior citizens with contributions totalling $5,500 raised through apple and pancake sales.

Letters to the Editor

More On Taxes

Dear Editor:

Your editorial on "Waste and Inflation is the Target" and Proposition 13 is 100% effective in getting attention. It is 50% right in reducing taxes on properties other than land value, which is over 50% of all properties on the San Diego tax rolls.

Stopping boondoggling at the local level will not be made easier if we must turn to the state and national governments for purely local needs.

Assessment (taxes) on land value can neither be passed on to another person nor added for a second time to the consumer (full economic rent of land is a normal expense in the production and distribution of wealth and services).

Article VIII of the Articles of Confederation "for the common defense and general welfare...shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to or surveyed for any person..."

The Constitution of the United States—Article 1 Section 2 "...direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union..." (See Webster's Seventh—Direct tax: A tax exacted directly from the person on whom the ultimate burden is expected to fall.)

Assessments (as used in Irrigation Districts) are identical to "Direct Taxes." This has been stated in material for information submitted by the Board of Equalization.

The United States Taxpayers Union could be less than 50% right if there is no distinction made as to the source of incomes that are now taxed (and not taxed). A "Standard of Accounting" will be necessary to distinguish between and separately assess or tax each income on the basis of its source—A) the returns for labor, including management;

B) the returns for use of bona fide capital; and C) the returns for the use of 'Land,' including original natural resources, franchises, licenses, etc.—the assessment of the Third Kind (C) could be used to reduce or eliminate taxes on (A) and (B).

A 'Standard of Accounting' and a system of sharing with state and local governments could be established with a minimum of effect on present ownership of all properties—there need be no shift of ownership. Legitimate owners of business and industry are paying full economic rent or would only need to shift to the new standard of accounting.

The system of providing public funds in proportion to the value of land owned and the use of 'direct taxes' can be the way to having a 'Perpetual Jubilee' instead of the biblical year of Jubilee as provided in the Old Testament.

Mary Moe

QUITS POLICE POST — Mary Moe, 26, attractive clerk in the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office, resigned her $200 a week post earlier this month to become a service representative for the telephone company. She served with the sheriff's department for 8 years, the last 2 in Lemon Grove.

"I'm sorry I had to leave. I have many friends in the department. They're all super people. Saying goodbye is the hardest part," she said.

Moe, a Lemon Grove resident, said the lack of promotional opportunities and a diminishing take-home pay contributed to her decision.

Captain George Dodson, station commander, said Moe was an "exceptional employee who worked a step above her classification and with minimum supervision. She was an asset to our office and I hated to lose her."

Dodson admitted that several recent resignations were based on lack of substantial salary increases coupled with reduced benefits.

This Week's RECIPE

Economical beef round steak, rolled up with a savory onion-herb dressing, makes a delightful entree to serve guests. The meat is made fork-tender first by pounding, then by slowly simmering in beef broth. Sour cream, added just before serving, makes a smooth rich sauce to serve with the meat.

Because everything can be prepared ahead of time with a minimum of effort, Sour Cream Beef Rolls are a joy to serve when guests are present. The meal can easily be completed with fresh buttered broccoli, hard rolls and a summer fruit salad.

- Sour Cream Beef Rolls
- 1 1/2 pounds beef round steak
 - 4 tablespoons butter, divided
 - 1/2 cup chopped onions
 - 1/2 cup chopped mushrooms
 - 1/2 cup dry bread crumbs
 - 1 tablespoon chopped parsley
 - 1 teaspoon thyme
 - 3 tablespoons flour, divided
 - 1 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon pepper
 - 1 cup beef broth
 - 1 tablespoon water
 - 1/2 cup sour cream

Cut steak into 6 serving-size pieces. Pound the meat until very thin. Melt 2 tablespoons butter in a skillet. Add onion and mushrooms and saute until barely tender, about 3 minutes. Stir in bread crumbs, parsley and thyme; cook 1 minute. Place some of dressing mixture on each piece of beef and roll up. Secure with wooden picks. Dredge rolls in 2 tablespoons flour mixed with salt and pepper.

Melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter in skillet; add beef and brown evenly on all sides. Add beef broth; cover and simmer until beef is tender, about 1 hour. Remove meat to heated platter.

Mix remaining 1 tablespoon flour and water to make a smooth paste. Add to skillet and stir until smooth and slightly thickened. Stir in sour cream; heat through. Spoon sauce over beef to serve. Makes 6 servings.

Chargers in First Homeshow Saturday at 6 with Kelcher

Louie Kelcher is back and all seems serene again on the Charger campus as Our Heroes make their first home appearance of the season at the San Diego Stadium Saturday at 6 p.m.

A goodly crowd should be on hand because the Chargers appear to be genuinely headed somewhere for the first time in several years.

A big turnout will prove that the fans who complained about pre-season games were overreacting. They were really squawking about wanting a winning team.

Tommy Prothro has tacitly promised to fill that demand this year.

Prothro will be hosting the New York Jets Saturday.

It will be the first time for Jets coach Walt Michaels to face Prothro as head coach. Michaels was an assistant to head coach Mike McCormick when the Philadelphia Eagles defeated Prothro's first Chargers teams 13-7 in S.D. in 1974.

Prothro is 1-1 in the regular season against the Jets and 1-0 in pre-season. Michael's first season at Jets' head coach last year was 3-11. The teams last met in a Monday night game December 15, 1975 in S.D. Stadium. The Chargers won 24-26.

Last week the Chargers evened their pre-season record at 1-1 with a 17-0 victory over the L.A. Rams in the L.A. Memorial Coliseum. The shut-out was the first in 86 pre-season games and second in their pre-season history.

Their other pre-season shut-out was 17-0 over the Dallas Texans in Balboa Stadium in 1962. In the Rams game, the Chargers held them to 109 total yards for the best pre-season performance ever by the Chargers.

The regular-season team record for total yards allowed is 58 against Oakland in a 41-10 San Diego victory in 1961. The Chargers allowed the Jets 113 yards when SD clinched the AFL West championship with a 38-3 victory in S.D. in 1964.

The Saturday game will be televised on TV 39 to be shown at 4 p.m. Sunday. It will be broadcast live on radio KSDO on a program starting at 3:50 p.m.

Ozzie Smith's Star Ascending As Padres Season Nears End

The Padres wind up their first road trip leg tonight with the Mets before swinging over to Montreal and then on to Philadelphia to wind up a 9-game schedule before returning home.

The Pads play the same 3 teams but in a different sequence when they come home August 24 for 10 games. It'll be the Mets for 4, Philadelphia 3 and wrap it up with Montreal for 3.

That wraps up the month of August, too, leaving only 15 more home games before the 1978 season is over.

The season ends on October 1 with a game with the Dodgers.

With the end so near, it gives a chance to flashback to the end of last season. With material supplied by the Padres outstanding public relations director, Bob Chandler, he recalled that the Padre management believed that they had their shortstop for the next decade when the 1977 season ended. That would be Billy Almon.

Billy had completed a fine rookie season and his future looked rosy. Well, Almon is still an excellent shortstop, but he's lost that job on the Padres to a phenomenal young man named Ozzie Smith.

After only one season of rookie league baseball at Walla Walla, Washington of the Northwest League, Ozzie Smith took charge of shortstop during spring training and in the opinion of many baseball experts who have watched him play, is already one of the top shortstops in the National League.

Padre skipper Roger Craig is certainly a Smith fan, noting "Ozzie is the best young infielder I've ever seen. Very soon he's going to be one of the best shortstops in baseball, if not the best. He might make it tomorrow at the rate he's going."

Baseball fans in San Diego are still talking about an incredible early season play Ozzie made against the Braves. With two out and nobody on, Atlanta's Jeff Burroughs smashed a grounder up the middle which appeared to be headed for centerfield. Just as Ozzie started to dive for the ball it took a bad hop. Somehow, miraculously, Smith reached back and grabbed the ricochet with his bare hand while falling, then quickly bounced up and threw out the startled Burroughs by a step.

After that play, veteran Atlanta pitcher Phil Niekro made a point to get in touch with Smith. "Niekro told me it was the greatest play he had ever seen," said Smith proudly.

Padre broadcaster Jerry Coleman is another big Smith booster. Jerry played 9 years for the New York Yankees when the Bronx Bombers were dominating baseball and had a pretty fair fielding shortstop by the name of Phil Rizzuto. Jerry says "You can't compare Smith to Rizzuto yet because Phil was great for many years, but Ozzie has made plays this season that I have never seen other shortstops make. He's amazing."

Houston manager Bill Virdon is another Ozzie Smith fan. "He has the hands, quickness, range and speed; if he proves he can hit for any decent kind of an average at all, he'll be a great one," summed up the Astros skipper.

Just for the record, Ozzie has hit close to .270 for most of the season, is among the league leaders in stolen bases with 32 and at last report was leading the National League in sacrifice bunts with 24.

Ozzie credits a lot of his success to his college coach who worked hard with him on fundamentals. However, Berdy Harr, Ozzie's coach at Cal Poly San Luis Obispo, says "I never taught Ozzie anything about playing defense. He already knew what that was all about when he came to us. He had a sense of timing, a rhythm, I had never seen before. The first time I saw him, as a freshman, fielding balls with the other players, I noticed he had this instinct for the ball. He moved to ground balls with great assurance. Right away I knew he was something special."

Dodger infielder Davey Lopes agrees. Before a recent game between the two Southern California rivals Lopes said "I yelled rookie of the year to Ozzie before the game started; he had only one year at Walla Walla, but he does things it takes years to learn in this business."

Everyone connected with baseball in San Diego feels Ozzie Smith is something special and is probably the main reason Padre fans are having their finest season ever.

NHL PreSeason Game On Tap at Sports Arena

LOS ANGELES—A 7-game pre-season schedule, featuring 3 games at the Forum, will mark the National Hockey League coaching debut of Bob Berry with the Los Angeles Kings.

The Kings, with 9 new faces on their roster, will make their first 1978-79 Forum appearance September 28 against the Vancouver Canucks. The Colorado Rockies visit The Forum September 30 and the St. Louis Blues are in on October 3. All 3 games have an 8:05 p.m. starting time.

For the second straight season, the Kings have a San Diego date on their pre-season schedule. The Kings will play Vancouver at the S. D. Sports Arena on September 27.

Included among the newcomers in the Kings lineup are defenseman Brian Glennie and right wingers Kurt Walker and Scott Garland obtained from Toronto; defenseman Rick Hampton, left wing Steve Jensen and center Dave Gardner, acquired from Minnesota; a right wing Mark Heaslip signed as a free agent; and Warren Holmes and Dan Bonar, rookie pros who are coming off big seasons in the International League.

Track Meet Aids Kidney Foundation

Setting some world records and attacking the nation's fourth major health problem are the dual goals of a 24-hour effort in San Diego this fall. The S.D. Track Club is sponsoring a 24-hour relay September 16-17 as a benefit for the Kidney Foundation.

Relay teams will consist of 2-10 runners, each of whom will compete one mile at a time, in a fixed order of rotation. If team members drop out, the others continue as long as there are at least 2 runners participating.

"The S.D. Track Club, in addition to sponsoring this event, is forming a team to attempt to establish a world's record in the 'Over 30' category," said Will Rasmussen, race director. "They will have to average about 5 1/2 minutes a mile, for the entire 24 hours, to do so."

Rasmussen said a 12-man team from the local track club may also attempt to surpass the current record in that category. To do so, each man will have to run 91 miles during the 24-hour period, he said.

Entry fees of sponsor donations will benefit the Kidney Foundation in its work to detect and assist those suffering from kidney disease, which strikes one out of 15 people in the U.S., or a total of 13 million men, women and children. Each runner participating in the benefit will receive a special T-shirt with team name and logo, and the individual who raises the most funds for the foundation will receive a free trip to the Honolulu Marathon in December.

For entry forms contact the S.D. Track Club or the Kidney Foundation, 297-0616.

Clipper Tickets Range is $4-$9

The San Diego Clippers of the National Basketball Assn. exercised option to contract rights of all-star forward Sidney Wicks, it was announced Tuesday by Clipper President Irv Levin.

The Clippers acquired the rights to Wicks as part of the original franchise exchange agreement between the Clippers and Boston Celtics owner John Y. Brown.

"Sidney Wicks has been a super star in the NBA since his rookie year. The addition of Wicks to the nucleus of our team strengthens us up front, especially in the scoring department," Levin said.

Wicks, a 7-year veteran of the NBA, has scored 11,203 points, an average of 19.9 a game. He was the first player selected in the collegiate draft in 1971 by the Portland Trail Blazers. Wicks has participated in four NBA All-Star games.

The former UCLA All-American played five seasons with Portland before being purchased by the Boston Celtics on October 12, 1976.

With the Celtics last season, Wicks averaged 13.4 points a game, 8.3 rebounds a contest, and shot .467 from the field.

TAKE FIVE

by John E. Wirges

It could be the city. Or maybe it's the timing. Or perhaps a difference in biorhythms, blood pressure or pain tolerance.

Whatever the reason, it seems downright unfair. When Philadelphia shortstop Larry Bowa belted (allegedly, of course) sports reporter Ray Kelly last week, the story made papers around the country.

But when Padre pitcher Gaylord Perry attacked me last Saturday night, not one person said a word. There were witnesses. Randy Jones stood there in his long Johns laughing through the whole thing.

Bob Shirley was just down the way ignoring it and Rollie Fingers pretended it never happened.

Roger Craig didn't come running out of the manager's office the way Danny Ozark did when Bowa squared off against Kelly. In fact, when I later explained what happened to Craig, he laughed and told me I deserved it.

Rodney Dangerfield ain't the only guy who don't get no respect. I get no respect as much as anybody, including Dangerfield.

Kelly got Bowa's dander up by writing something that apparently was a shade tougher than the usual diatribe that passes for sports writing in the Philadelphia area.

I was attacked for merely asking a question. Under the rules of jock-reporter confrontations, you gotta admit Gaylord has a lotta class. He didn't wait for the story. He got his shot in during the interview.

It all started innocently enough. Mil Chipp, my old partner and long time UPI sports writer, is off on a bear-rug-on-the-hoof hunting trip to Alaska and I'm filling in for him in the Padre pressbox for a couple of series.

After I filed my story Saturday I dropped down to the locker room to pay my respects. It's kind of open warfare in baseball locker rooms, and I was greeted with such endearments as "Looks like a Blimp broke free from the mooring lines," and "Hide the food, here comes fatso."

With a smile on my face and good cheer in my heart I stroled by Randy Jones' locker and said "Howdy."

"Where have you been, front runner," he said, referring to my semi-absence most of the summer. "You don't even come around when we're winning. Where have you been? You look terrible."

It should be noted that Randy is an old friend and generally at his ease around writers. Perry has the locker next to him and he, too, fears not the pen.

"Wattya mean, I look terrible?" I asked Jnes.

"Hell, you look . . . well . . . old," he said.

"Well I am," I defended myself. "And it's got me worried. I'm gonna hit the big five-oh in two weeks. Comes August 30th, I'm gonna be 50 and that's not easy to live with."

Perry had turned to join our little tete-a-tete and I was able to address my next question directly to him from about six inches from his nose, knowing full well he was semi-sensitive about being 39.

"Hitting 50 is cause for worry. How did you feel when you got there?" I asked Perry with a straight face.

That's where he lost his cool. He hit me with a dirty sock, then went for my throat. He laced his fingers around my windpipe, but his fingers were still wet and I kept slipping free.

He threw me to the ground and grabbed a bat. But I'd seen him swing and I wasn't worried. He gave it his home run swish missing me completely but hitting the wall as I escaped into Craig's office. I looked and both were laughing at my flight.

"Now I'll be famous," I thought, stealing a beer from Roger's cooler. "My story will be on every sports page around the country."

But . . . nothing. Nobody cared. No interviews. No pictures. No nothing. Nobody even wanted to see the vaseline scars Perry left on my neck.

It's a bitter lesson. But when you hit 50, nobody gives a damn. That's life, I guess. Kelly must be a younger man.

NASCAR Points at Stake In S.B. Oval Event Sat.

Richard White, the Escondido driver who is in the thick of the Grand National West championship fight, will depart that strenuous grind Saturday night to compete in the NASCAR-sanctioned open 50-lap stock car race at South Bay Park's Speedway 117.

The $3,000 event, which is expected to draw some of the finest competitors in the southland, will be run over the record-swift half-mile oval. Practice is slated at 5:30 p.m., trials begin at 6:30 p.m. and the trophy dash is set for 8 p.m.

The 39-year-old White, who won 1973 Grand National West Rookie-of-the-Year honors, has been battling Jimmy Insolo, Bill Schmitt and Ray Elder for the late model stock car crown. This time, however, he'll take over Jim Jensen's 1969 Corvair, which has won several features at Cajon Speedway.

Included among some of the other entrants are Dan Nichols of Capistrano Beach in a 1974 Camaro, Ron Stryker of Gilbert, Ariz., in a '76 Camaro, Ron Turner of Lomita, '68 Camaro, Bob Foster, Jr., of Pomona in a '66 Ford Mustang and Steve Vaughn of Carson in a '74 Camaro.

Winner of the feature will receive $700 and this should be incentive enough to make the trip to the track located southeast of Brown Field. In fact, several drivers in the local South Bay Racing Assn. have been preparing their cars specifically for this big one. The event is open to American manufactured stock cars, sedans or convertibles built since 1955.

The program includes 4 8-lap heats and a 15-lap semi-main prior to the feature.

Mahone New Exec

Dr. Hazel Mahone will begin work September 1 as the new Deputy Executive Director of the California School Boards Association (CSBA).

Dr. Mahone who has served as teacher and administrator within California public schools is the recipient of many awards for her community and educational services.

CSBA districts include about 98 per cent of the state's public school pupils.

$50,000 Derby Is D.M. Feature

The three-year-old champion of the 1978 Del Mar racing season will be crowned Sunday when the West's outstanding sophomores tangle in the 34th running of the $50,000-added Del Mar Derby at a mile and one-eighth on the infield grass course.

The Derby climaxes an attractive week of racing at the seaside course which also will feature the $40,000-added San Diego Handicap for older horses Saturday.

The Del Mar Derby promises to match an outstanding band of second-year competitors, including Jan Siegel's Singular, impressive winner of the La Jolla Mile; Anderson, Friddy and Walters' Kamehameha, upset hero of the Cinemeha, upset hero of the CinePark; Esops Foibles, winner of the Louisiana and Arkansas Derbies this spring; B. J. Rider's Misrepresentation, winner of a division of the Ocean-side Stakes on opening day, and S. J. Agnew's Gonquin, stakes-winning Bold Bidder colt.

Other Derby prospects are El Fantastic, stretch-running son of Cougar II; Le Gaul, April Axe, Sea Ride and Wayside Station.

Heading the line-up in Saturday's San Diego Handicap, a steppingstone to the invitational $100,000 Del Mar Handicap on September 4, will be Kirkland Stable's venerable gelding Ancient Title, richest active Thoroughbred in American racing.

New Owner, New Name for Hockey Club

The San Diego franchise in the Pacific Hockey League has been sold to Pittsburgh businessman Elmer Jonnet.

They have been renamed the San Diego Seahawks.

Final agreement on the sale and a long term lease on the San Diego Sports Arena was agreed to recently by Jonnet and Sports Arena President Peter Graham. Graham also operated the hockey team during the 1977-78 season.

A prominent real estate developer, Jonnet will have sole ownership of the team. His business ventures include high rise buildings, shopping centers and bowling centers in the Pittsburgh area.

Athletes-in-Action Brings World-Class Basketball Players

Area basketball fans will have an opportunity to see some of the top players in both amateur and professional basketball in the first-ever Jack in the Box Basketball Classic.

The game, which will benefit Oakridge, a youth camp in Ramona, will feature the world class basketball team Athletes in Action against a squad of National Basketball Assn. stars. Tip-off is slated for Tuesday evening, August 29, 7:30 p.m. at the S.D. Sports Arena. All seats are reserved and priced at $6, $4 and $2.50.

Former pro basketball star John Block, a veteran of 10 years in the NBA and a former member of the San Diego Rockets, is one of the organizers of the game.

2 NBA stars have already accepted invitations to play in the JoB Classic. Paul Westphal, the All-Star guard of the Phoenix Suns, a 6 year NBA veteran will be joined by teammate Alvan Adams.

Westphal is considered to be one of the top all around guards in the NBA and a perennial All-Star performer.

Adams was the 1975-76 NBA Rookie of the Year following a tremendous college career at the University of Oklahoma.

Athletes in Action could be the best amateur basketball team in the country. The past three seasons has seen AIA win 128 and lose only 19 for a winning percentage of .871. San Diego native Ralph Drolinger, a graduate of UCLA and the top rebounder on AIA from his center position, paces the team that almost yearly makes an appearance in San Diego. Forward Melvin Delph, a graduate of Arkansas, highlights some of the new faces that will be featured in the AIA line-up.

Cajon Track Features Sprint Cars Saturday

It will be one rear-engine sprint car versus the field Saturday night at Cajon Speedway's 3/8 mile paved oval. El Cajon Stock Car Racing Assn.'s super stocks are taking a week off and in their place, track promoter Earle Brucker Jr. has booked the popular California Racing Assn. sprint cars.

It will mark the second Cajon race of the season for the sprinters, often referred to as the "Thunder and Lightning Division." A sprinter is an open wheeled racing machine capable of speeds in excess of 100 mph. A mistake can result in a sprinter being catapulted out of the park.

Race time Saturday night at Cajon will be 8 with the qualifying session set for 6:30. The traditional 3-lap trophy dash for the 4 fastest qualifiers of the night will kick off the racing events. 4 10-lap heat races and a 12-lap semi will determine the 20 starters for the finals. 4 cars will come out of each race.

In the April season opener at Cajon it was Wally Pankratz in the Greg Pieper rear-engine car which took home top honors. Pankratz is favored again.

Thunderboats Return To Mission Bay in Sept.

The giant Unlimited hydroplanes will be back raising their rooster-tails on Mission Bay September 14-17 for the Third Annual Jack in the Box Thunderboats Unlimited Race.

"It looks like we will have one of the biggest and best fields of Unlimiteds ever to compete on Mission Bay," Sam Parisa, chairman of the Thunderboats Board of Governors, said.

"We're going to see some new boats and some older, competitive ones with new owners."

One new boat on the San Diego scene will be the U-96 owned by Chuck King and Roger Janke from Orange County. The U-96 has proved itself a strong and steady competitor in previous races this season.

San Diego's Bill Muncey has kept up a steady streak of wins with only one loss this year. The Atlas team is planning to conquer Mission Bay in September, but defending 1977 champion, the U-1, Miss Budweiser, according to owner Bernie Little and driver, Ron Snyder, have other plans.

"A field of 12 boats is expected," Parisa said. "We're

'Rocking Chair Derby' Brings Out a Hall Famer

Manuel Ycaza, one of the most exciting and colorful riders in Thoroughbred racing history and a member of the Hall of Fame, will come out of retirement to compete again Wednesday, August 23 when he rides in Del Mar's sixth "Rocking Chair Derby."

Ycaza, who retired in 1971 after a spectacular saddle career during which he piloted many of America's finest horses to victory in the sport's most prestigious events, will face six other former star jockeys in the 5 1/2 furlong betless exhibition which annually is a highlight of the Del Mar meeting.

Opposing Ycaza in the "Derby" will be past race winners. Dean Hall (1973) and Ken Church (1974), plus Bill Harnatz, Dave Gorman, Angel Valenzuela and Larry Gilligan.

Serving as honorary stewards will be three Hall of Famers, John Longden, Johnny Adams and Ralph Neves, who won the race on his fifth try a year ago astride Fleet Oley.

Ycaza began his career at the age of 15 in his native Panama and was the first jockey from that country to achieve outstanding success in the United States. As such, he blazed a path to follow for fellow Panamanians Laffit Pincay, Jr., Braulio Baeza, Ja-ever for the Garden Grove-based team and came after several years of attempts. Since that Cajon win, the first ever also for any rear-engine car in C.R.A., the team had enjoyed a successful season. They won an open comp title in Salt Lake City and numerous main events at Bakersfield and Madera.

His stiffest challenge should come from Dean Thompson, Jimmy Oskie or Rick Goudy. Thompson and Goudy are both looking for their initial CRA title while Oskie has 4 titles under his belt. Oskie has won the title each of the last two seasons.

All 3 have been victorious over the years at Cajon. Oskie however has not won at Cajon since 1970 while Goudy and Thompson took Cajon honors during the 1976 season.

The winner Saturday night is guaranteed at least 30 points and could pick up as many as 38 if he were to have fast time and win his heat race as well.

A field of 30 cars is expected for the show, which will be the last of only 2 pavement races for CRA this year.

looking forward to welcoming the U-29 and owner Bob Miller for the second race of their first season."

Moving deeper into the Unlimited waters this year are the Seattle-based Squire Shops who are sponsoring two boats, the U-64 and the U-65.

In addition to the incomparable Thunderboats the San Diego Race Committee has a full schedule of supporting events. "The Kawasaki Jet Skis will be back this year," Parisa said. "They put on a spectacular performance last year."

"Another event that adds to the excitement are the Speed Ski races. This year several Australian skiers are coming to give their American cousins some tough competition."

The Navy's UDT/SEAL and Parachute Teams are back and are planning invasions from the air and sea.

The Unlimiteds will be making their way to the Pits on Thursday, September 14 and $2 guided pit tours for the public begin then.

Admission to the races is $2. Parking is $1 on Vacation Island on Friday and on all islands on Saturday and Sunday.

For tickets call 239-0143.

Clippers Sign Sidney Wicks

Price range for tickets for this year's seats for Clipper games, San Diego's new NBA team was announced by team president Irv Levin.

Prices are $9, $8, $6 and $4. Levin said it is "about in the middle of what the price scales are around the league. We feel that these are fair for all the fans."

Season tickets are available for all 42 games which includes one pre-season date.

Letters have gone out to some 5,000 fans who pledged to purchase season tickets during the campaign waged by the Greater S.D. Sports Assn. The pledges enabled S.D. to obtain the NBA franchise.

The second installment payment of the 2-payment plan is due September 16.

Season tickets costs: $9 tickets $378; $8, $336; $6, $252 and $4, $168.

Rope's End For Sockers In Tampa Try

The San Diego Sockers are in Tampa, Florida for the second game of their American Conference playoff series against the Tampa Bay Rowdies tonight.

The game will be broadcast on KOGO radio at 8 p.m. and telecast on XETV, Channel 6 at 10:30 p.m. with Joe Starkey calling the action.

Tampa took a one-game lead in the series with their 1-0 victory in San Diego Monday night. The lone goal came off the foot of Arsene Auguste and deflected past goalkeeper Alan Mayer off a Sockers defender. San Diego had numerous chances in the game, but couldn't capitalize.

San Diego will have to win the game tonight to stay alive in the playoff race. By defeating the Rowdies in the 90-minute game, the Socks will force a sudden death overtime period to determine the winner of the series. If there is no score in that overtime, the NASL Shootout tiebreaker then takes effect.

The winner of the San Diego-Tampa series will meet the winner of the Detroit-Ft. Lauderdale series for the championship of the American Conference.

Sockers goalkeeper Alan Mayer has been voted the American Player of the Year by the players of the North American Soccer League.

Should the Sockers play Ft. Lauderdale in the Conference championship round, the game from Ft. Lauderdale on Sunday could possibly be a nationally televised match and carried on XETV, Channel 6. If the Socks play Detroit, the game would be here in San Diego with an 8 p.m. starting time.

3 Guererro Brothers on Grapple Card

"Guererro Brothers Night" will be marked Tuesday at the Coliseum when the 3 professional wrestling brothers appear in separate entanglements.

Chavo Guererro will take on Roddy Piper, the feisty Scotsman.

Monda Guererro grapples with Great Goliath and the loser of that match will be required to leave town.

Hector Guererro is featured in a tag team draw match, but he doesn't know who his teammate is. 4 names will be put in a hat just before the match and the first two names drawn establish the partners. Those involved, in addition to Hector, are Pak Choo, Black Gordman and Carlos Mata.

Gamma Singh meets GO in the curtain-raiser.

The first bout goes on at 7:30. The Coliseum is at 15th and E sts. in downtown S.D.

Near End of Competition

Can Mickey Thompson SCORE at Riverside?

Can Mickey Thompson 2-236.

What Satchel Paige was to baseball, Mickey Thompson is about to become in auto racing. The indefatigable hot rodder from Long Beach continues to challenge a younger generation of aggressive drivers.

Thompson's entry in the Challenge of Champions feature of the BF Goodrich SCORE Off-Road World Championship sponsored by Mark C. Bloome, to be held August 26-27 at Riverside International Raceway, brings to mind the fact that he is soon to celebrate his 50th birthday.

"I had planned on retirement at the age of 35," Thompson said as he reflected on one of the longest continuous careers in motor sports. "I had set my goals early in life. I wanted to set Land Speed Records, and I did that. At one time I held more speed records than any man alive. At that point I wanted to retire and become a businessman."

"But I don't have guts enough to quit," Thompson said. "Some guys as they get older begin to worry about the dangers involved, and they lose their desire to continue. I'm reversed. It takes a lot of will power for me not to race. I love it so much."

Off-road racing, which has consumed almost all of M/T's energies in the last 8 years, has given him new goals to achieve, and now it appears that Thompson may be nearing them.

Thompson declared that if he wins at Riverside, then wins one long distance cross-country race he will hang up his helmet for the last time. It's a tough assignment, but nobody ever claimed the former newspaper pressman ever did anything the easy way.

"I lead almost every race I'm in, but the trouble is that I have trouble finishing. In the last 3 years I have won some small races, and recently I've done well. Heck, I've finished 5 of the last 7 off-road races, and in the others I've crashed."

Probably the high water mark of his season to date came in June in a similar challenge race of invited champions sponsored by SCORE and Las Vegas' Silverbird Hotel.

85 Prospects at USD Grid Camp

85 football players are expected to report this week for pre-season camp at the U. of San Diego. Torero head coach Bill Williams has 25 days to get his players ready for the 1978 home opener, on September 9, against Cal Lutheran College.

There are 9 assistant coaches on this year's USD staff and all have coached or played previously at the Alcalá Park campus.

Larry Caudillo, offensive line coach, has the added duties of offensive co-ordinator. Caudillo has been a part of USD football since 1973, when he transferred here from Grossmont College.

In other specific offensive areas are: Pat McIntyre—offensive line, Don Magee—quarterbacks, Joe Amidon—wide receivers, Tim Howard—tight ends and Steve Goodbody—offensive backs.

On the defensive side, Bill Williams will continue as defensive co-ordinator.

Aiding him are Len Rodriguez—defensive line, Jerry Robinson—defensive backs, Kevin McGarry—defensive backs, with coach Williams taking the linebackers—inside and out.

The USD players are housed in the campus dorms. Practices will be held in the USD Football Stadium.

YOU AND YOUR PET

By Robert L. Stear, D.V.M.

Pet First Aid

No one likes to consider the possibility that some day a favorite pet might be injured in an accident. Yet given the fact that most dogs and cats are free to roam the house and neighborhood, it's best to be prepared to administer first aid to your pet.

Your first step in providing first aid should be to take precautions against being bitten or scratched—even if your pet is normally good-natured. Do not assume that a pet in pain will recognize a familiar voice or face. Use a blanket or jacket to cover the pet's head, or convert a scarf into a temporary muzzle so you can examine the animal safely. To examine a cat, you may need a friend to restrain the cat's feet while you hold its head.

In any accident, the most obvious injuries will be broken bones or heavy bleeding. Broken limbs usually stick out at an unnatural angle and must be immobilized with a temporary splint and some taping. The splint and broken leg should be wrapped firmly together to prevent further movement which may cause additional bleeding or tissue damage.

The easiest method to control heavy bleeding is direct pressure over the wound by applying a clean handkerchief with your fingers. Blood that is bright red and spurting out rhythmically comes from an artery; darker, slower flowing blood comes from a vein. If you are unable to stop the blood in a few minutes using a pressure bandage, you may have to try a tourniquet. A tourniquet is a narrow strip of material (a tie, stocking or belt) tied tightly between the heart and the wound. Tourniquets must be loosened for one minute at 5 to 8 minute intervals so that the tissues below the tourniquet are not completely deprived of oxygen and blood.

If your pet has stopped breathing, you must apply artificial respiration. Lay the pet on its right side, and gently pull the tongue out of its mouth as far as possible. Apply even steady pressure on the rib cage, with your hands. Press down approximately every five seconds. Do it slowly but with strong pressure to the chest area. The firm pressure also massages the heart. You may have to work on the animal a half hour or more. There's always the possibility of reviving an animal as long as there is a heartbeat.

Heavy bleeding, trauma, pain and severe fright all contribute to the development of shock, even if major injuries are not present. Major symptoms of shock in animals include pale, grayish gums and lips. Treat shock with warmth and comfort. Cover the animal with blankets and speak soothingly.

If the animal is fully conscious, stimulants such as warm coffee or strong tea may be given by the spoonful into the corner of the mouth. In small doses, they will stimulate the heart and blood circulation, fighting against shock. If the pet is unconscious or semi-conscious, do not give it anything by mouth. Liquids may strangle an unconscious animal by passing into the lungs instead of the stomach.

While you are administering first aid, someone else should locate a board or stiff cardboard for transporting the animal to the nearest veterinarian. If necessary, tie the pet down so that he does not injure himself further. If you are away from home and have to move an injured animal, use a blanket or even a coat. Slide the animal onto the material and have several people pick it up at the corners.

Even if your pet seems to have no major injuries and is recovering from the shock of the accident, it's best to visit your veterinarian right away. Internal injuries may not show up immediately and delay in treatment may mean permanent damage.

ONE OF CITY'S OLDEST — Herb Shaffer, owner-operator, sits outside the Shaffer Gem Center, headquartered at 3270 Main st. in Lemon Grove. Built in 1908 and now owned by local dentist Dr. Peter Shea, who leases it to Shaffer, the house contains Shaffer's large collection of gems and antiques and will soon house his arts and crafts classes.

Amethyst, Jade and Ideas Sparkle at LG's Gem Center

By Susanne Williams
Flint-rock rifles from Afghanistan, pre-Columbian statues, and gems in all colors and sizes—gems wherever the eye rests.

A fairy-tale a la "Ali Baba and the 40 Thieves?" No. All these natural and man-made objects can be found at Shaffer's Gem Center, located in one of the oldest buildings in Lemon Grove.

The house at 3270 Main st., built in 1908, is now part store, part museum, part workshop, and soon to be the site of arts and crafts classes.

Its operator is Herb Shaffer, graduate of Stanford University, instructor, world traveler, gem collector, seller and buyer.

Shaffer opened the center 4 months ago with the idea to use it as a place to display and sell the many treasures he had accumulated from his various trips to Latin America, the Orient and the Middle East.

Since then he has decided to enlarge the store into a community center and multi-cultural museum, where people can learn about different artifacts, geology, jewelry-making, display their art work, or simply browse around and look.

Shaffer, who started to learn lapidary, the art of stone-cutting, in the eighth grade and "has been at it ever since," obtained his master's degree in art at Stanford.

Etruscan Method
He wrote a thesis on the Etruscan method of gold granulation, considered a lost art which he thinks he rediscovered.

He also studied three years under Byron Wilson at the California College of Arts and Crafts in Oakland and has since been teaching in various schools.

A class he taught at O'Farrell Junior High School in Southeast San Diego was the first organized jewelry class in San Diego County schools, Shaffer said.

which encompass design, theory and technique of jewelry making.

It won him a grant for setting up a pilot program of classes in other area schools.

Shaffer's frequent trips abroad during which he bought gems and artifacts from other dealers led to the foundation of his center, where cut and uncut pieces of jade, amethyst, ruby and other precious and semi-precious stones vie for the visitor's attention.

Shaffer, who imports the stones in large quantities, cuts, polishes and sets the gems himself. Settings can be made out of gold or silver although he also uses custom settings.

Prices for the sparkling merchandise range from 10 cents to four-digit numbers, thus fitting every taste and buying power.

Shaffer also sells unframed Thai temple rubbings at $5 apiece as well as gem-decorated key-holders and silverware.

His customers include collectors and often persons who make jewelry themselves.

Classes to Start
To further the art of jewelry making, Shaffer will start a number of classes September 11. His business is large enough to accommodate groups of 12 to 15 people.

Classes will be offered in silversmithing, lost wax casting, stained glass making, and possibly stone cutting and faceting. They will run for 7 weeks and be held for 3 hours each week.

Shaffer will teach some of the classes himself and will be assisted by "highly qualified people to help me with instruction."

He also might take another buying trip in the near future, although buying trips are getting somewhat difficult, he said. Permits have to be obtained, shipping companies notified and customs forms filled out.

Often, precious artifacts, especially those illustrating a country's history, cannot be imported into the United States at all, or only for display purposes, not for sale.

Shaffer was lucky to obtain a number of rare Atacamite pieces, which are only found in Chile, and which won him a special award in the 1978 Southern California Exposition.

He was refunded for a shipment of stones from Brazil, however, which he had bought but was unable to import since the government considered the stones too valuable.

Yet, Shaffer would go "anyplace, anytime anybody wants me to" to find wanted gems or artifacts, he said.

THE OLD GRIND — Herb Shaffer lowers his protective goggles and prepares a stone for cutting at Lemon Grove's Shaffer Gem Center. Stone cutting and faceting may be among the topics Shaffer and associates will cover in classes at the center, 3270 Main st., set to begin Sept. 11. Others will include silversmithing, lost-wax casting and stained-glass making.

FOR A REALLY CLOSE SHAVE . . . — Herb Shaffer displays a Khyber sword from Afghanistan, along with a flintlock musket dating from 1797 and identical to some still in use by the Afghan tribesmen. "They'd rather go out without their pants than without their gun," Shaffer laughed.

Pick Up Your Check, Kathleen Gutzman!

Nearly 2,000 refund checks totaling more than $371,680 are waiting to be claimed in the Southern California Internal Revenue Service District. The checks were returned by the U.S. Postal Service marked undeliverable.

One local person with an unclaimed, "undeliverable" refund check waiting is Kathleen Gutzman of Spring Valley.

The IRS has compiled a list of taxpayers whose refunds were returned by the Post Office. Taxpayers who filed on time and have not received their 1977 refund checks should contact their local IRS office as soon as possible.

Many of these checks remain undeliverable because taxpayers have moved and left no forwarding address with the Post Office. Refund delays are also sometimes the result of lost or stolen checks. In these cases, the IRS can put tracers on the missing checks and locate them or issue replacements as necessary.

Other refunds may be delayed because of errors or omissions on tax returns. IRS will inform each taxpayer of the steps needed to expedite issuance of their refund check according to the circumstances of their individual case.

Inquiries concerning refunds should include the taxpayer's name and address if different from those on the tax form, the Social Security Number(s), and the type of form filed. Under most circumstances, an undeliverable refund check can be reissued to a new address within two weeks.

SOON TO BE A STATISTIC? — Fifty-eight per cent of the adults killed by being run over by trains whose deaths were investigated in a special study by the National Transportation Safety Board were found to have been drinking heavily at the time of death. The study, covering 280 deaths-by-train between March 1, 1976 and Oct. 30, 1977, showed only 14 per cent were under 16 years old, so most train-caused deaths were not to children playing on the tracks, but 86 per cent of the victims were adult men. About 500 persons are killed by trains annually in the U.S. News Editor Bob Melton (a tee-totaller) contributed his body to this set-up shot, showing what can happen on the San Diego & Arizona Eastern tracks cutting through the East County.

Ask Your C.H.P.

C.H.P. Capt. C. M. Douglas
Last time Capt. Douglas discussed metered freeway on-ramps.
If you have a question, no matter how insignificant it may appear to you, ask it. It could save your life—or at least save you a citation.
Address your questions to this newspaper, and wait several weeks for your question to appear.

This week's question:
"I realize that a right turn at a red light is permitted after first stopping, but what about a situation where 2 lanes end at an intersection and a right turn is permitted for both lanes? Can a right turn be made from both lanes against a red light? An example is the intersection in Casa de Oro where Kenwood drive meets Campo road."

Capt. Douglas's answer:
After stopping for the red light, a right turn can be legally made from either lane as long as the turning movement can be safely made, and only after yielding to through traffic.

Needy Wartime Veterans Aided by Cranston Bill

The Senate has unanimously passed a comprehensive bill to reform the nation's pension program for needy wartime veterans and survivors.

Senator Alan Cranston (D., Calif.), chairman of the Veterans' Affairs Committee and author of the measure (S. 2384), said that most of the country's one million wartime veterans with low incomes who are totally disabled from non-service-connected causes or who are age 65 or older, and their survivors, would be better off under his program.

"Passage of this bill," Cranston said, "is a major step in the 5-year effort to correct the inequities in the VA's pension program."

"It will also save needy veterans and survivors from having to turn to welfare by assuring an income standard above the Department of Labor's poverty guidelines," he said.

In addition, the new pension program guarantees comparable pension increase each time there is a cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits.

"This bill is not only humanitarian in its immediate effects on the lives of those who fought to protect our freedom, but after 5 or 6 years we estimate there will be significant cost savings that could rise to $1.7 billion or more annually by 1990," Cranston said.

Excludes Non-Needy

Cranston pointed out that cost savings would result because the new program would not pay benefits to non-needy persons. There are pensioners who now receive $5, $6, or $7 monthly or even larger benefits even though their incomes are far above the national minimum standard of need.

"This adds millions of dollars each year to the federal budget," Cranston said.

"This is an added burden on all taxpayers which I consider unfair. Since this is a need-based pension program, new pensioners coming onto the program in the future should receive benefits only if they are in need," Cranston said.

VA pensioners who, for one reason or another, do not qualify or do not want to apply for the new plan will continue to receive their pensions under the terms of the present Veterans' Administration program.

Under the Cranston bill, a single wartime veteran would be assured of at least $3,240 a year. This minimum standard would be the starting point for determining a veteran's pension.

That would mean a significant boost for all VA pensioners with incomes below the national minimum standard of need. The amount of the increase would depend on several factors, including outside income and number of dependents; but essentially, the new program will provide the greatest benefit to those most in need.

A needy veteran with one dependent and no other income, for example, now receives a maximum pension of $2,544—far below the poverty level. Under the Cranston plan, he would receive $4,284 a year, a 68 per cent increase. The increase would be even larger with more dependents.

Inflation Protection
Another provision protects against inflation pensioners with little or no income by preventing any reduction in pension based on Social Security cost-of-living increases. Cranston said this applies only to the new program.

The Cranston bill eliminates all but a few exclusions from the income which is counted to determine "need" and the amount of the pension. Of the exclusions retained, most result from non-recurring income such as fire insurance proceeds or from one-time expenditures such as those made for a veteran's last illness and burial.

In addition, the bill includes all unreimbursed medical expenses over $100 (or 5 per cent of total income) as well as expenditures for the pensioner's education paid out during the previous year.

"There is one other type of exclusion, a partial exclusion of current-work income," Cranston said, "which is designed to meet the needs of 2 particular groups."

"Elderly veterans and surviving spouses who work occasionally would be able to exclude the first $780 of their wages plus one-half of the rest. Catastrophically disabled veterans, usually younger veterans, would be able to exclude the first $1,560 of their wages plus one-half of the rest."

Employment Encouraged

"This current-work-income exclusion has the fundamental purpose of avoiding any disincentive to work. People are discouraged from working if their pensions are reduced dollar-for-dollar by the wages they receive."

"Government programs should never discourage people who want to work from doing so. If older or disabled pensioners are able to do so, let's encourage them to work to better their lot in life, contribute to society, and build their self-esteem."

The following chart shows the maximum amounts under the Cranston bill and under current law:

Cranston Current
Veteran, 1 dep.	$4,284	$2,544
Veteran, 2 depts.	4,944	2,604
Veteran, 3 depts.	5,604	2,664
Added dependents	660	none

The amounts are higher for veterans who need regular aid and attendance or who are housebound.

The Cranston bill provides increased benefits for most surviving spouses—a benefit rate equal to a veteran's for a disabled surviving spouse, one 65 or over, or one with a child six or under or "helpless."

The House has passed a pension reform bill (H.R. 10173) similar in concept to the Cranston bill. The Senate voted 85-0 to amend H.R. 10173 with the provisions of S. 2384 as reported, and returned it to the House. The California Senator said he expected the House and Senate to get together in conference to work out their differences later this year.

"I am very optimistic that we can resolve our differences and send to the President a fair, effective, and responsible measure of which we can all be proud," Cranston said.

The Congressional budget, passed in May, contains enough money to fund the new program. The current program would cost approximately $3.4 billion in fiscal year 1979 for about 2.7 million pensioners. The new program would add about $638 million the first year.

What You Wanted to Know About Your Blood Pressure

Those who want to know the meaning of "blood pressure" can understand it more easily from this understandable explanation by Dr. Dorothy M. Rathman, a nutrition expert with Best Foods.

Q. What is normal blood pressure?

A. Two numbers are recorded in a blood pressure measurement: Systolic, the pressure of the moment the heart beats to force blood through the arteries, and diastolic, the pressure between heart beats. Blood pressure varies with age, sex, muscular development, diet, worry, fatigue. It is usually lower in women than men. In healthy young persons, normal systolic values are 100-120 and diastolic 60-80. With advancing age, blood vessels tend to lose elasticity; systolic values over 140 are not unusual in apparently healthy older persons.

Q. What is hypertension?

A. Hypertension is another word for high blood pressure. An occasional high reading associated with excitement, for example, is normal. However, most doctors regard readings persistently over 140 systolic and over 100 diastolic as being too high. Hypertension is of concern because it is linked with increased risk of heart attacks and strokes.

A. Some changes in lifestyle—how you eat, work and spend leisure time—can help correct mild hypertension:

1. Lose excess weight. This may mean merely eating smaller portions, consuming less alcohol and eating fewer sweets.
 2. Reduce salt intake. Use less in cooking and at the table. Avoid salty snacks.
 3. If you smoke, stop.
 4. Adopt a prudent diet containing less animal fat and cholesterol. High blood cholesterol levels coupled with hypertension increase the risk of heart attacks. Ask your doctor to tell you about the prudent diet. Some essential features are eating less cheese, whole milk and butter and using polyunsaturated fats in salads and in cooking.
 5. Exercise regularly.
 6. Try meditation-relaxation; reduce exposure to stress.
- If you have not had your blood pressure checked recently, do so. If you find you have a mild hypertension, don't worry, but do take action under your doctor's guidance.
